ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Isabel Uys is well established as one of South Africa's leading authorities on reference books, dictionaries and language aids. She has many years teaching experience and worked for five years as a book selector for The Western Cape Education Department. She has compiled numerous reference books, multilingual dictionaries and language aids. Many of them were best-sellers. She won two literary awards. Her first book was published in 1994 and is still in print (more than 24 updates). Her aim is to compile practical and useful books for children and adults.

INTRODUCTION

Parents, learners, students, teachers, writers, everyone! This is the book you have been waiting for! There is no similar book available anywhere. This book is not an ordinary grammar guide. It is also a comprehensive reference book with long lists of grammar which is frequently required and some very useful general knowledge. Instead of searching for information in various sources, you will find most of the information needed in this single volume.

Although this book is not aimed at serious grammarians, it provides all the information needed to use English grammar and punctuation properly. The information varies from simple to more advanced. The grammar rules are clearly explained. A great asset is the comprehensive reference lists which are not found in other study aids. There are more than 1,600 plurals in the book. Please see the Table of Contents. The general knowledge section provides lots of useful facts.

This book is an excellent resource for anyone who wishes to learn correct grammar and punctuation. It is also suitable for young learners and a good tool for doing homework or preparing for exams. Yes, the most useful book ever!

1. THE ALPHABET

An alphabet is a group of letters used to form words.

- Many different alphabets are used in the world.
- The English alphabet is based on the Latin (or Roman) alphabet.
- The English alphabet is the most commonly used alphabet in the world.
- There are 26 letters in our alphabet.
- It is necessary to know the alphabet to find information and words easily.
- Information and words are usually arranged in alphabetical order
- The five vowels in our alphabet are a, e, i, o, u.
- All the other letters in the alphabet are consonants.

a b c d e f g h i j k l m n o p q r s t u v w x y z

How to arrange words alphabetically

ball, apple, great, bed, above, river, actor, kitchen, break

1. Find all the words that start with an a. (apple, above, actor)
2. Now look at the second letter and see which second letter comes first in the alphabet. (above)
3. Continue with the third letter in the word until you have arranged all the letters starting with an a. (above, actor, apple)
4. When you have arranged all the words starting with an a, you start with the words starting with a b.
5. Therefore the alphabetical order of the words at the top are:

above, actor, apple, ball, bed, break, great, kitchen, river

- If two people have the same name or initials, but different surnames, look at the surnames to place them in alphabetical order. (John Brown, John Kelly, John Smith)
- In a dictionary two words are printed at the top of every page to show the first and last word on that page.

Interesting facts:

- For many years, people wrote without any letters. They drew pictures (hieroglyphics) to make their point.

Hieroglyphs used in Ancient Egypt

In recent times pictures are still used to make information understandable to all people.

- The word alphabet comes from the first two letters of the Greek alphabet, alpha and beta.
- Originally the Greeks used only capital letters.
- The second most widely used alphabet in the world is the Arabic alphabet.
- The most frequently used letter in the English Alphabet is the e.
- The Braille alphabet for the blind was invented in 1821 by a blind Frenchman, Louis Braille.
- The Braille alphabet is a system of raised dots that can be "read" with the fingers.

2. NUMERALS/NUMBERS

The number system that we use is the base 10 (Arabic) system

Cardinal numbers tell you how many things there are. (ten children)

Ordinal numbers tell you the order of something. (the second child)

Cardinal
1 one	19 nineteen
2 two	20 twenty
3 three	22 twenty-two
4 four	30 thirty
5 five	40 forty
6 six	50 fifty
7 seven	60 sixty
8 eight	70 seventy
9 nine	80 eighty
10 ten	90 ninety
11 eleven	100 a/one hundred
12 twelve	106 a/one hundred six (Amer.)
13 thirteen	a/one hundred and six (Brit.)
14 fourteen	200 two hundred
15 fifteen	1,000 a/one thousand
16 sixteen	1,000,000 a/one million
17 seventeen	1,000,000,000 a/one billion
18 eighteen	1,000,000,000,000 a/one trillion

Ordinal
1st first	19th nineteenth
2nd second	20th twentieth
3rd third	22nd twenty-second
4th fourth	30th thirtieth
5th fifth	40th fortieth
6th sixth	50th fiftieth
7th seventh	60th sixtieth
8th eighth	70th seventieth
9th ninth	80th eightieth
10th tenth	90th ninetieth

17th seventeenth	1,000,000,000th a/one billionth
18th eighteenth	1,000,000,000,000th a/one trillionth

- A comma is used to separate every three digits. (1,000,000)
- A comma is inserted every three digits from the right.
- Use a hyphen for all compound numbers written in words. (twenty-seven; fifty-six)
- A period/full stop is used as a decimal mark. (10.8 kg)

Note:

Some countries use a space to separate the digits and a comma as a decimal mark.

(1 000 000 and 10,8 kg)

Rules for writing numbers

There are different styles for writing numbers.

These rules are the ones most often used.

It is important to be consistent within the same page or document.

1. Sentences may not start with figures, unless it is a calendar year (2018).

- 2016 was a memorable year in American politics. (correct)
- Twenty-five people died in the attack. (correct)
- 25 people died in the attack. (wrong)
- One percent of the grade four learners failed. (correct)
- 1%/1 percent of the grade four learners failed. (wrong)

2. Numbers from one to nine in a sentence are always written in letters.

- Only six people attended the meeting. (correct)
- Only 6 people attended the meeting. (wrong)

3. Numbers from one to nine used in calculations, lists or measurements are written in figures.

- 6 x 4 = 24 (correct)
- 1. Peter Lewis (correct)
- 2. James Marsh (correct)
- He is 2.2 m tall. (correct)

4. Be consistent when there are two numbers in the same sentence.

- There were five boys and sixteen girls at the party. (correct)
- There were five boys and 16 girls at the party. (wrong)

Note:

It can be confusing when two numbers are used next to each other. Write the shortest number in figures.

- There are five 12-year old girls and seven 13-year old boys in the group. (correct)
- There are 5 12-year old girls and 7 13-year old boys in the group. (wrong)

Note:

Some style guides recommend spelling out the numbers one to one hundred.

5. Large numbers are written in figures, but if the number is not precise, it may be written in words.

- All 650 survivors were taken to hospitals. (correct)
- All six hundred (and) fifty survivors were taken to hospital. (wrong)
- More than six hundred (and) fifty survivors were taken to hospitals. (correct—not precise)

6. When writing round numbers that are larger than a million, use figures followed by the word "million", etc.

- More than 3 million animals were affected by the drought. (correct)
- Oprah Winfrey earned $315 million each season for her show. (correct)

7. Never use the plural of a large number before a noun.

- There are three thousand sheep on the farm. (correct)
- There are three thousands sheep on the farm. (wrong)
- In 2015 thousands of sheep died in Iceland. (correct - number not followed by a noun)

8. Decimals are written in figures. Put a zero in front of the decimal point if it is not preceded by a whole number. Do not put a decimal point and zero after a whole number.

- The dose you need to take is 50 mg. (correct)
- The dose you need to take is 50.0 mg. (wrong)
- The distance is 0.65 miles. (correct)
- The distance is .65 miles. (wrong)

Note:

On a check/cheque (Brit.) the number 100 is always written in words. (one hundred)

9. We use the percent sign (%) if a number is written as a numeral, it is part of a calculation or part of a report.

- Her income is 125% of her husband's income.
- 5% + 2% = 7%
- The profit was 157%.

10. We use the word "percent" after a number that is written in letters.

- Only twenty-seven percent of the students accepted the new regulations.
- I am hundred percent sure of my facts.

Note:

Publications often use numerals and the percent sign to save space.

- Unfortunately 56% of the passengers died in the crash.

11. The names of monarchs, (kings, queens, dukes, emperors. etc.) and popes need a "the" before the ordinal number when written in words.

- Elizabeth II — Elizabeth the second (correct)
- Elizabeth II — Elizabeth second (wrong)
- Pope Benedict XVI — Pope Benedict the sixteenth (correct)
- Pope Benedict XVI — Pope Benedict sixteen (wrong)
- Pope Benedict XVI — Pope Benedict sixteenth (wrong)

12. When combining a number and one or more adjectives in front of a noun, put a hyphen between the words.

- Father sometimes works a 13-hour shift. (correct)
- John climbed over the four-feet-high wall. (correct)

Do not use a hyphen if the number is not used as a compound adjective preceding a noun.

- Mandy slept for nine hours. (correct)
- Mandy slept for nine-hours. (wrong)
- Father was very tired after driving 450 miles. (correct)
- Father was very tired after driving 450-miles. (wrong)

13. Use figures for units of measurement (meters/metres, miles, pounds, minutes, etc.) The abbreviations should always be in the singular.

- Mother needs 4 kg of white flour for the rusks. (correct)
- Mother needs 4 kgs of white flour for the rusks. (wrong)

- Will 25 m of material be enough for the curtains? (correct)
- Will 25 ms of material be enough for the curtains? (wrong)

14. Amounts of money are written in figures.

- Ann paid $1,50 for the chocolate. (correct)
- He paid $2 million for his house. (correct)

Do not use a decimal point or a dollar (pound, euro, etc.) sign when writing out amounts less than a dollar.

- The change was nine cents. (correct)
- The change was $0.09 cents. (wrong)
- He had only 65 cents in his pocket. (correct)

We do not add the the word "dollar " if the figure is preceded by a dollar sign.

- She has $1,500 in her savings account. (correct)
- She has $1,500 dollar in her savings account. (wrong)

Ways to say the number 0

1. When we mean "not a single one" we say:

There were no dogs in our garden.

2. We say oh (like the letter o) when we say a number by itself, the name of a year, phone numbers, road numbers or a series of numbers, decimals and percentages.

- 206 (two oh six)
- 2007 (two oh oh seven)
- 35 607 9006 (three five six oh seven nine oh oh six)
- Morgan Street 405 (four oh five)
- RF 112 853 50307 (one one two eight five three five oh three oh seven)
- 30.05 (three oh point oh five)

3. In mathematics, science and technical contexts we say zero. (British English also nought)

4. In measurements of temperature 0 (freezing point) is called zero. (American and British English)

5 In team games 0 is called nil/zero/nought/ nothing or naught.

- France seven, Mexico zero/nothing/naught (American English)
- France seven, Mexico nil/nought (British English)

6 In tennis the word "love" is used for 0.

- Thirty–love: Williams to serve

3. ROMAN NUMERALS

Roman numerals were the system of numbering used by the Romans in ancient Rome.

Seven letters of the alphabet are used to express Roman numerals.

Capital letters are usually used for Roman numerals.

Roman numerals greater than 1,000 are not commonly used.

There is no Roman numeral to represent 0.

The seven letters that are used for Roman numerals

I	V	X	L	C	D	M
1	5	10	50	100	500	1,000

The rules for writing Roman numerals

1. A Roman numeral are not used more than three consecutive times.

- $10 = X$
- $20 = XX$
- $30 = XXX$
- $40 = XL$ ($50 - 10$)
- $400 = LD$ ($500 - 100$) (Correct)
- $400 = LLLL$ ($100 + 100 + 100 + 100$) (Wrong)

2. If a symbol appears after a larger symbol it is added.

- $6 = VI$ ($5 + 1 = 6$)

3. If a symbol appears before a larger symbol it is subtracted.

- $4 = IV$ ($5 - 1 = 4$)

4. Only subtract one symbol from another.

- $12 = XII$ ($10 + 1 + 1$) (Correct)
- $12 = IIXV$ ($15 - 1 - 1 - 1$) (Wrong)

5. Only subtract the symbols I, X or C. (NOT V or L)

- $150 = CL$ ($100 + 50$) (Correct)

• $150 = LCC$ (200 - 50) (Wrong)

6. A bar placed on top of a symbol increases the value by 1,000 times. This is used from 4,000 and above.

- $150 = CL$
- $150,000 = \overline{CL}$

4. DAYS OF THE WEEK

Names and abbreviations

Sunday (Sun.)

Monday (Mon.)

Tuesday (Tue.)

Wednesday (Wed.)

Thursday (Thu.)

Friday (Fri.)

Saturday (Sat.)

Note:

In British English periods/full stops are not used after the abbreviations.

A leap year and a leap day

- There are 365 days in one year, but in a leap year there are 366 days.
- Nearly every fourth year is a leap year. Years that can be divided evenly by 4 are leap years (2016).
- Century years are not leap years unless they can evenly be divided by 400. (2000 was a leap year, but not 1800.) Our next leap year is 2020.
- February 29 is called a leap day.

Interesting facts:

- We use the modern day Gregorian calendar.
- There are 24 hours in one day.
- Each day starts at midnight (12 o'clock at night) and ends at midnight the next day.
- There are seven days in one week.
- In most countries Sunday is considered as the first day of the week and Saturday as the seventh (last) day of the week.
- There are 52 weeks in one year.

5. MONTHS OF THE YEAR

March (31 days)
April (30 days)
May (31 days)
June (30 days)
July (31 days)
August (31 days)
September (30 days)
October (31 days)
November (30 days)
December (31 days)

A decade, century and millennium

- There are 12 months in one year.
- A decade is 10 years.
- A century is 100 years.
- A millennium is 1,000 years.
- The 21st century is the period from 2001–2100. (It is not the 20th century.)

Note:

- My birthday is in June.
- My birthday is on June the 10th.

How to say year numbers

Note: The "and" is only used in British English.

- 1500: fifteen hundred
- 1618: sixteen eighteen
- 1786: seventeen eighty-six
- 1805: eighteen hundred (and) five/eighteen oh five
- 1932: nineteen hundred (and) thirty-two
- 2000 two thousand
- 2007 two thousand (and) seven/twenty oh seven
- 2017: Two thousand (and) seventeen/twenty seventeen

AD and BC

• AD stands for Anno Domini (Latin for in the year of Our Lord.)
It is used to denote years after the birth of Jesus.
Sometimes CE (Common Era) is preferred.

• BC stands for Before Christ. (From the ancient Greek word Christos.)
It is used to denote years before the birth of Jesus.
Sometimes BCE (Before Common Era) is preferred.

• CE and BCE are regarded as more neutral terms.

The seasons

Season	Months
spring	March, April, May summer	June, July, August
autumn/fall	September, October, November

- The four seasons are the result of the tilting of the Earth's axis.
- Summer is the hottest season with the longest days and the shortest nights.
- When it is winter in the Northern Hemisphere, it is summer in the Southern Hemisphere.
- The longest and shortest day of the year, the summer and winter solstice, occur when the earth's axis is either the closest or farthest from the sun.
- In the Northern Hemisphere the longest day (summer solstice) is about June 21. On the same date it is the shortest day (winter solstice) in the Southern Hemisphere.
- In the Northern Hemisphere the shortest day (winter solstice) is December 21. On the same date it is the longest day in the Southern Hemisphere.

6. DATES (How to write)

Note:

- To avoid confusion, it is better to spell out the month.
- There are different ways to write dates, but it is important to be consistent.

American English

In American English dates are written in the following order: month — day — year.

- May 11
- May 11, 2018
- Friday, May 11, 2018

We can also write the date in numbers only.

- 05/11/2018

Although not commonly used in American English, the letters (th, rd, st, nd) can be used after the number, especially when speaking the dates.

- August (the) 6th
- February (the) 3rd
- January (the) 1st
- on June the 2nd

British English

In British English dates are written in the following order: day — month — year.

- 11 May
- 11 May 2018
- 11th May 2018
- Friday, 11 May 2018
- Friday the 11th of May, 2018
- the 11th of May 2018

Note:

The and of always have to be used together when writing dates in British English.

We can also write the date in numbers only.

- 11/05/2018

The following letters (th, rd, st, nd) can be used after the number.

- the 6th August
- the 3rd February
- the 1st January
- the 2nd of June

Speaking the dates

- It is January the first. (Amer.)
- It is the first of January. (Brit.)
- We will leave on June the tenth. (Amer.)
- We will leave on the tenth of June. (Brit.)

7. USES OF THE VERB “TO BE”

Am, is, are, was, were, shall and will

1. The verb to be (am, is, are, was, were, shall, will) connects a noun to another noun, adjective or pronoun.

- John is a prefect. (noun)
- The dogs are hungry. (adjective)
- Pat is her friend. (pronoun)

2. It helps to form the present, past or future tense in a sentence.

- Sue is in my class. (present tense)
- Sue was in my class. (past tense)
- Sue will be in my class. (future tense)

	Present	Past	Future
I	am	was	shall be
He, she, it	is	was	will be
We	are	were	shall be
They	are	were	will be
You	are	were	will be

3. When something is a wish or impossible we say I were.

- If I were a bird, I would enjoy flying.
- I wish I were taller.

Rules for using shall and will

I shall, we shall all the others will.

• This rule can change to express determination, a promise, an obligation, a command, or something inevitable.

- I will go even if you don't want me to go. (determination)
- He shall be there on time. (promise)
- You shall obey the rules. (command)

8. ARTICLES

An article precedes a noun or the adjective describing the noun. They indicate whether a noun is specific or general.

The

The is a definite article. It refers to a specific noun or something that is one of a kind.

- Sit on the chair. (a specific chair)
- The earth is round. (only one earth)

A and an

A and an are indefinite articles. They do not refer to a specific noun.

- Sit on a chair. (any chair)
- Would you like an apple? (any apple)

Rules for using a and an

1. We use an before singular, countable nouns which begin with vowel SOUNDS (a, e, i, o, u).

- I like to eat an apple. (Correct)

2. We use a before singular, countable nouns which begin with consonant SOUNDS.

- Mandy has a cat.

3. A and an are singular and cannot be used with plural nouns.

- I have cats. (Correct)
- I have a cats. (Wrong)

4. When there is an adjective before the noun, a or an should agree with the first sound in the adjective.

- Mother has a pretty apron. (Correct)

5. If there is an adverb-adjective combination before the noun, a or an must agree to the first sound in the adjective or adverb-adjective combination.

- He loves an extremely beautiful girl. (Correct)

AN

an ape an extra pencil
an f (sounds like eff) an hour (sounds like our) an honor/honour (Brit.) (sounds like onor/onour) an interesting story an iron an old man an honest man (sounds like onest) an umbrella
an unicorn (sounds like yunicorn) an X-ray (sounds like eks-ray)

Note:

Words are pronounced differently in some American and British accents.
(Americans — a hospital) (some British accents — an hospital, because it sounds like ospital)

9. QUANTIFIERS

1. We use the quantifiers much, many, a lot of and lots of to talk about quantities, amounts and degree.
2. Much, many, a lot of and lots of express that there is a large quantity of something
3. We use the quantifiers few/a few and little/a little to express small quantities.
4. They can be used with or without nouns.
5. We often leave out the noun when the noun is obvious.

Examples with a noun:

- Our dog drinks much water.
- Anne has many cats.
- Our dog drinks a lot of water.
- Our dog drinks lots of water.
- Anne has a lot of cats.
- Anne has lots of cats.
- She has only a few pages left to read.
- Very few people came to the party.

Examples without a noun:

- Will you give the dog some water? How much?
- Please pass me some spoons. How many?
- How much milk do you need? A lot. (or lots)

Note: We do not use a lot of without a noun.

Much and many

We use many for things that can be counted.

We use much for things that cannot be counted.

Much and many are often used in negative sentences and questions.

- I do not want to eat too much food.
- How many horses does he have?

Much and many are also used in sentences with so, as much as/as many as and too.

- Joan made so many mistakes.
- Do not waste so much time.
- Try to do as many sums as you can.
- Eat as much as you want.
- I bought too many glasses.
- I drank too much gingerbeer.

Many

many glasses of water many animals
many difficulties many extra glasses
many interesting stories many slices of bread many times
many sums

Much much water much sand much difficulty much information much traffic much pain

much work

Note:

- Mother bought many jars of jam.
- Do you like much jam on your bread?
- We have many hours to do the work.
- We have much time to do the work.

A few/few and a little/little

We use a few/few and a little/little to suggest a small quantity or not much of something.

We use (a) few for things that can be counted.

We use (a) little for things that cannot be counted.

An "a" is often used before few and little.

- She has only a few sweets left. (countable)
- Few people attended the meeting. (countable)*
- May I have a little sugar? (uncountable)
- We have little hope of finding our dog. (uncountable)

A few/few few good friends few books few presents few months few bananas few cups few horses few times few bottles of water little little milk little sugar little shy little time little water little knowledge little patience

Note: a little = some (I have a little food — I have some food.)
little = hardly any (I have little food — I have hardly any food.)

A lot of/lots of

See also: Much and many

In affirmative sentences it is preferred to use a lot of/lots of instead of much/many.

A lot of/lots of are not usually used in questions or negative sentences.

A lot of/lots of are used with countable and uncountable nouns.

- The farmer has a lot of/lots of horses.
- The farmer does not have many horses.
- Does the farmer have many horses?
- There are a lot of/lots of books on the shelf.
- There were a lot of/lots of people in the streets.

10. HAS, HAVE AND HAD

1. Has, have and had are important for forming the perfect tenses.

- Mary has finished her homework. (present perfect)

12. CAN, MAY AND MUST

Use can to say you are able to do something.

- I can go with you.

Use may to ask for permission to do something.

- May I go with you?*

Use must when something is a fact.

- I must remember to buy my friend a present.

13. IF AND THEN

We join sentences with if when we are not sure that something will happen.

- If it is a sunny day then they will go for a picnic.*

We can also use if without the "then" in the middle of a sentence.

- They will go for a picnic if it is a sunny day.

14. THE COMPOSITION OF WORDS

Root words

A word is formed by a root, with or without a prefix or suffix. The most basic form of a word is a root word.

- I have a new dress.

Prefixes

A prefix is a group of letters which is added to the beginning of a word to make another word with a different meaning.

- Father needs to repaint the wall.

A prefix can also be used to form antonyms.

- I do not want to undress for the doctor.

Suffixes

A suffix is a group of letters added to the end of a word to form a new word.

- I played with the dog.
- It was very thoughtful of you to help him with his work.

A prefix and suffix cannot be used without a root word.

Compound words

A compound word is when two words are joined to form a new word.

air + port	airport	my + self	myself
bed + room	bedroom	moon + light	moonlight
black + board	blackboard	out + side	outside

grand + mother	grandmother	water + melon	watermelon
key + board	keyboard	weather + man	weatherman

15. WORD DIVISION AND SYLLABLES

A syllable is a word or a part of a word that is pronounced as a single sound.

1. Long words are easier to spell when they are divided into syllables. (Wednes-day, ad-ver-tise-ment)

2. It is necessary to divide a word into syllables if it cannot fit on a line. The last part of the word is then written on the next line of the page.

3. A hyphen is used to mark the division.

- Every syllable must have a vowel. (dad)
- Some words have one syllable. (mat, dish, talk)
- Some words have two syllables. (mat-tress, dish-cloth, talk-ing)
- Some words have three syllables. (di-vi-sion, py-ja-mas, im-por-tant)
- Some words have more. (i-ma-gi-na-tion)

Rules for word division

- Compound words are split. (him-self, foot-ball)
- Divide words after prefixes. (un-safe, dis-like)
- Divide words before suffixes. (sharp-en, child-ish)
- Words with two middle consonants (except ph, ch, sh, gh or th) are divided between the consonants. (ap-ple, mon-key)
- Never split up ph, ch, sh, gh or th because they form one sound. (al-pha-bet, au-thor)
- Divide before a single middle consonant. (o-pen, i-tem)
- Divide before the consonant before an -le syllable. (Bi-ble, ea-gle)
- Words with just one syllable cannot be divided. (rat, still)

16. SENTENCES

1. A sentence is a group of words that contains a verb and makes sense on its own.

- Jamie runs in the park.

2. A sentence always starts with a capital letter.

- The boy reads fast.

3. It ends with a full stop, question mark or exclamation point.

- My name is John.
- What is your name?
- Don't hit me again!

- A statement is a fact. (It is my dog.)
- A question asks something. (Where is Mother?)
- An exclamation describes a strong emotion. (You're hurting me!)
- A command gives an order. (Please sweep the floor.)
- In the negative form no or not is used, but an antonym can also be used. (I am not happy. I am unhappy.)

Simple sentences

A simple sentence has one subject and one verb.

- Jim plays tennis every day.

Complex sentences

A complex sentence has one main clause and one or more supporting clauses.

- Jany ran fast, although she felt ill.

Compound sentences

When two or more simple sentences (two main clauses) are joined together, it is a compound sentence.

A compound sentence has two verbs.

- Tim worked inside, but Jane played outside.

Ambiguous sentences

An ambiguous sentence can have more than one meaning.

- John hit the man with the bat.

(Did John hit the man holding a bat or did he hit the man with a bat?)

17. CLAUSES

A clause is a group of words with a verb and a subject.

Two main clauses form a compound sentence. See: Compound sentences

The main (independent) clause

A main clause (verb clause) has a subject and a verb and makes sense on its own.

- Mary did not win, although she tried hard.

The subordinate (supporting, depending) clause

1. A subordinate clause gives more information about the main clause.

2. A subordinate clause always has a verb, but cannot stand alone.

- Mary did not win, although she tried hard.

3. A main clause and a supporting clause are joined by conjunctions. See: Conjunctions

- Eric is scared of the dog that bit him.

4. There are different types of subordinate clauses.

(a) The adjectival clause

An adjectival clause acts like an adjective.

They often begin with: who, which, whom or that.

- Alice, whom I met last week, is very pretty.

(b) The adverbial clause

An adverbial clause acts as an adverb. Ask: here? when? how? or why?

- We eat vegetables in order to stay healthy.

(c) The noun clause

A noun clause acts as the noun in a sentence.

When the words if, how, that, whether, what, which, who, whom, whose and where, are used, it is a noun clause.

- Mary told me that she has failed the test.

(d) The conditional clause

A conditional clause states a condition and a result.

These clauses include the words if, and/or unless. They often start with the word if.

- If you do well, I'll give you a reward.*

18. PHRASES

- A phrase is not a complete sentence.
- It does not contain a subject or a verb and does not make sense on its own.
- It is used to ad detail to a sentence.

(a) The adjectival phrase

An adjectival phrase acts the same as an adjective. It gives more information about a noun.

- The cat with the fluffy tail is beautiful.

(b) The adverbial phrase

An adverbial phrase acts the same as an adverb. It gives more information about a verb.

- Enid studied as much as she could.

(c) The noun phrase

A noun phrase replaces the noun in a sentence.

- Father bought me a beautiful silver bangle.

(d) The linking phrase

A linking phrase join ideas and gives order to events.

- Before going jogging, you have to finish your homework.
- Later in the afternoon, if you have done everything, you can contact Peter.

19. THE SUBJECT, OBJECT AND PREDICATE

Sentences must always include both a subject and a predicate.
Not all sentences have a predicate.

The subject

The subject of a sentence is the person, place or thing or thing that does the action in the sentence. The subject is often found at the beginning of a sentence.

- The dog chases the cat.

The predicate

The predicate is the rest of the sentence (except the subject).

- The dog chases the cat.

Not all predicates have an object.

- The girl plays happily.

The simple predicate is the main verb in the predicate (chases and plays).

The object

The direct object of a sentence is the person or thing that has an action done to it.

(Ask who or what after the verb.)

- Mother bought sweets for Lizabeth.

The indirect object answers to whom or what after the direct object.

For an indirect object to appear, a sentence must first have a direct object.

- Mother bought sweets for Lizabeth.

20. PLURALS

Rules for plurals

1. Most plurals are formed by just adding an s.

Singular	Plural	Singular	Plural
book	books	hour	hours
friend	friends	rabbit	rabbits

Note:

We never use an 's to form the plural of a proper noun. We only add an s.
(Anns, Smiths)

2. Words ending in y. If there is a vowel before the y, just add an s.

Singular	Plural	Singular	Plural
day	days	guy	guys

3. If there is a consonant before the y, drop the y and add ies.

Singular	Plural	Singular	Plural
dairy	dairies	sky	skies

8. If a word ends in -oo, just add an s.

Singular	Plural	Singular	Plural
bamboo	bamboos	zoo	zoos
kangaroo	kangaroos	tattoo	tattoos

9. Single numbers, letters and symbols form plurals by adding an s or 's.

An apostrophe is acceptable if it is used to prevent confusion.

- Capital letters rarely need an 's, but for clarity it is better to use 's for lower case letters.
- She got two Bs and three Cs in her tests.
- You have to write your p's clearly.

An apostrophe is never used for the plural of years.

Singular	Plural	Singular	Plural
3	3s/3's	i	i's
+	+s/+s	do	do's
$	$s/$'s	CV	CVs
A	As/A's	CD	CDs

a	a's	1980 ('80)	1980s ('80s)

10. Words that cannot be counted are the same in the singular and plural form.

Singular	Plural	Singular	Plural
sand	sand	information	information

11. Some words change completely in the plural form.

Singular	Plural	Singular	Plural
goose	geese	man	men
louse	lice	mouse	mice

12. The plural of a proper noun is formed by adding s or an es even if the y is preceded by a consonant.

Singular	Plural	Singular	Plural
Amy	Amys	March	Marches
Jones	Joneses	February	Februarys

13. If a word ends in -is, the is is changed to es.

Singular	Plural	Singular	Plural
crisis	crises	basis	bases

14. If a word ends in -ful, just add an s

Singular	Plural	Singular	Plural
handful	handfuls	spoonful	spoonfuls

15. In a hyphenated compound noun, an s is usually added to the last word.

Singular	Plural	Singular	Plural
go-kart	go-karts	set-up	set-ups

16. If a word ends in -us, an es can be added or the -us can be omitted and an i added.

Singular	Plural	Singular	Plural
focus	focuses, foci	radius	radiuses, radii

17. In words containing prepositions an s is added to the most important, usually the first, word.

Singular	Plural	Singular	Plural
son-in-law	sons-in-law	runner-up	runners-up

18. Many English words adopted from other languages, Greek and Latin words in particular, form the plural in the same way as in the original language.

Singular	Plural	Singular	Plural
medium	media	criterion	criteria
spectrum	spectra	phenomenon	phenomena
stimulus	stimula	vertebra	vertebrae

Note:

The Latin-style plural is correct in formal, scientific, or technical writing, while the English plural is better for everyday language.

- Sam ate a large, red apple.
- Ann has a black, fluffy cat.
- He is an attractive, tall boy.

6. When more information is given in a sentence, a comma is used before and after the additional information.

- James, the boy next door, is very naughty.
- The man, who found the dog, adopted him.

7. A comma is used to separate digits in large numbers. (1,000)

See: Numbers

8. Commas are used when a surname appears before a name and before a title or qualification that follows a name.

- Jones, Tom
- Barry Dick, BSc

9. Use a comma to separate geographic locations.

- My cousin got married in Rome, Italy.
- They camped near Christal River, Florida.
- The Taj Mahal at Agra, India, is one of the most famous buildings in the world.

10. Use a comma where one phrase or clause ends and another begins.

- If you want to join us, please phone me.
- Just thinking about her behavior/behaviour (Brit.), makes me mad.

11. Use a comma before the conjunction in a compound sentence.

- I wanted to sleep late, but the noise outside was terrible.
- He failed the test, because he was ill.

The question mark (?)

A question mark is used after a direct question.

- Where is Jane?
- May I come with you?

A question mark is not used after indirect questions.

- Tell me what your name is.

The exclamation point/mark (Brit) (!)

Exclamation points are used after exclamations or to express strong emotions like anger, excitement, or happiness. An exclamation point must be followed by a capital letter.

- Stop!
- You coward!
- Wonderful! He won the race.

Note:

If the exclamation point is inside quotation marks in the direct speech, we do not use a capital letter after the exclamation point.

- "Be careful!" she shouted.

The colon (:)

1. The colon is used to introduce a list.

- I like bright colors/colours (Brit.): red, blue, green and yellow.

2. A colon is used after the words "for example".

- Mammals feed their young on milk, for example: sheep, cows and cats.

3. It is used before a quotation.

- My mother always tells me: "I told you so."

4. A colon is used when a second sentence explains the first sentence.

- Father could not go to the concert: He had a meeting with his boss.

5. When writing dialogue, a colon is used after the speaker. It separates the speaker from what is being said.

- Dr Louw: "Are you taking the medicine?"

6. A colon is used to separate minutes from hours.

- The concert starts at 19:30.

7. A colon is used between a cause and an effect.

- If you eat less: You will lose weight.

8. A colon is used after the title of a work to introduce the subtitle.

- Bruno: The Story of a Dog

Note:

You only use a capital letter after a colon if you have a complete sentence or a proper noun after it.

The semicolon (;)

1. A semicolon is used to join sentences where conjunctions are not used.

- Tony practiced/practised (Brit.) very hard; he wanted to win.
- I have four kittens; two are bigger than the others; one kitten is grey; the other three are black.

2. It marks a long pause between two related ideas.

- Danny studied very hard; it was late when he got to bed.

3. It shows opposite ideas.

- He is tall; she is short.

4. A semicolon is often used before co-ordinate conjunctions such as yet, nevertheless, however, therefore, then, still and for.

- Uncle Tom had a stroke a few days ago; however, you probably know all the details already.
- Anne studied very hard; yet she did not reach her goal.

Note:

We do not use a capital letter after a semicolon.

Quotation marks/inverted commas [Brit.] (“ ”)

See: Direct speech

1. Quotation marks are used to show direct speech.

- Linda said: "I know my work well."
- "Where is my pen?" she asked.

2. It is used to enclose the titles of songs, poems, short stories and articles.

- "Hallelujah" is my favorite/favourite (Brit.) song.
- "The Flying Lion" is a short story.
- Mary Jones wrote the article "How to Study" in The Washington Post.

Note:

The titles of books, newspapers and magazines are italicized.

- The Ghost, The London Times and Country Life

3. Quotation marks are used to repeat (quote) someone else's words.

- Winston Churchill said: "Never, never, never give up."

4. Use quotation marks to enclose nicknames, slang or words which are not often used in that context.

- He is called "Moaner" because he always complains.
- The car is "pleading to be repaired", but John pretends not to notice.

Note:

All punctuation should be placed inside quotation marks.

The hyphen (-)

1. A hyphen is used after a syllable when a word cannot be completed on a line.

- tea-cher (cher on the next line)
- bas-ket (ket on the next line)

2. The hyphen is used to connect some compound words.

- The work was well-done.
- I like a soft-boiled egg.

3. Use a hyphen for ages.

- My ten-year-old brother is very naughty.
- His nine-year-old dog is still healthy and happy.

4. Use a hyphen when a single letter or number is joined to a word.

- When Mandy broke her arm, she went for an X-ray.
- We have an A-frame house.
- Please buy a 2-litre Coke.
- Mother says she needs a 1-month holiday.

5. Hyphenate prefixes when they come before proper nouns.

- Nelson Mandela was an ex-president of South-Africa.
- In mid-winter it is very cold in London.

6. Use a hyphen between the parts of compound numerals from twenty-one to ninety-nine and for fractions.

- eighty-five
- nine hundred fifty-five (Amer.)
- nine hundred and fifty-five (Brit.)
- two-thirds

7. A hyphen is used between two similar letters to avoid confusion.

- re-elect
- re-enter
- semi-invalid

8. Use a hyphen when the first, or more parts of a compound word are separated from the word(s) to which they are joined in meaning.

- The four- and five-year-olds are playing games.
- In the test we had to do easy- and difficult sums.

9. A hyphen is used to distinguish between the same words with different meanings.

- You will have to re-cover that dirty book.
- I hope Peter will recover his stolen bicycle.

10. Hyphenate all written-out fractions.

- About two-fifths of the money was recovered.
- Only one-third of the boys play football.

Note:

grandmother, stepson, sister-in-law, mother-in-law

The dash (en dash and em dash)

An en dash (–) is slightly longer than a hyphen and an em dash (—) is the longest.

1. An en dash (–) is often used to indicate a closed range of values, such as dates, times or numbers. It is also used when the time frame has not yet ended.

- Anne was in hospital from March 22–April 10.
- You have to learn pages 126–170.
- Theo Martins (1978–2014)
- Joy Bain (2010–)

The en dash is read as “to” or “through”.

1. An em dash (—) can be used in the same way as commas or parenthesis to give an explanation or additional information.

- The girl—who is very thin—eats very little.
- Bruno—our dog—is very big.
- The thief—who stole our car—was caught by the police.

2. An em dash (—) can be used to indicate unfinished dialogue, words or letters.

- “Please help! The dog is—”
- “I will,” he screamed. “I will—”
- He said that the truth was that—

3. It can also force a pause similar to a comma, semicolon and colon.

- I am not going to the show—I want to study.
- Tom is in bed—he is not feeling well.
- Janet is cross with me—I don't know why.

4. An em dash can be used in a list.

Please do the following:

- wash the car
- clean the bathroom
- do the ironing

Note:

There is no space added on either side of a dash, except when it is a hanging dash (2010–)

Parentheses/brackets [Brit.] ()

Parentheses can often be replaced by commas or dashes.

1. Parentheses are used to supply additional information.

- My cousin (Carl) is a prefect.
- Thomas Edison (the inventor of a light bulb) was an American.

2. It is used to explain something.

- The baby (who is very tiny) sleeps a lot.
- Nelson Mandela (a former president of South Africa) was a respected leader.

3. Parentheses are used to enclose information about word origin.

- potjiekos (Afr.)
- au pair (Fr.)

4. Parentheses are used in mathematical expressions—for example to show which part of a calculation should be done first.

- $20 - (6 \times 2) = 8$
- $5 + (3 \times 3) = 14$

The ellipsis (. . .)

1. An ellipsis shows that a word or words, have been left out of a sentence or quote.

- I will be able to . . .

2. It is also used to create suspense.

- The winning team is . . .

3. It shows that a sentence has not been finished.

- Help! The dog is . . .

The Apostrophe (')

The apostrophe (') plus the letter s is used to show ownership, form plurals or to abbreviate words.

1. To form the possessive case. It shows something belongs to someone or something.

(a) If the owner is singular, the apostrophe comes after the singular form of the noun.

- The girl's dress is pretty.
- The child's book is neat.

(b) Plurals get an apostrophe after the plural form of the noun.

- The girls' dresses are pretty.
- The ladies' coats are warm.
- I have to fetch the geese's food.

(c) If a noun ends in -ss, add the apostrophe 's.

- The hostess's shoes were black.
- The boss's orders are final.

(d) In plural compound nouns an s is added to form the plural and a separate 's is added for the possessive form.

- My sisters-in-law's dresses are very pretty.

2. The apostrophe is sometimes used to form plurals of letters, numbers or short words to prevent confusion. See: Plurals

- The word stress has two s's and the plural of two is two's.
- Add all the 6's in the list.

Note:

• The apostrophe is also used to shorten or abbreviate words. See:

Contractions

• The apostrophe takes the place of the letter or letters which have been left out.

25. CONTRACTIONS

When an apostrophe takes the place of a letter or letters which have been left out, it is called a contraction.

- I am not ill. (I'm not ill.)
- *They have not been to church.
(They've not been to church.)*

Note:

Contractions are not used in formal writing.

26. DEGREES OF COMPARISON

Rules for degrees of comparison

1. Degrees of comparison are used for adjectives and adverbs.
2. Only the positive degree can be used with more and most.
3. By using less and least, we can indicate the lower or lowest degree of something.
 - competitive — less competitive — least competitive.
 - Tom is very competitive, Andy is less competitive and Amy is the least competitive.
4. Some words have two comparative and superlative forms.
 - clever — cleverer/more clever — cleverest/most clever
 - likely — likelier/more likely — likeliest/most likely
5. Comparisons can also be used to compare something to herself, himself or itself.
 - John is most unpleasant when someone criticiz(es)es him.
 - His car starts more difficult when it is very cold.

Note:

In these cases the is not used before more and most.

1. The positive degree refers to one thing.

- My horse is fast.

2. The comparative degree compares to two things.

- His horse is faster than John's horse.

(a) For words with a short vowel add another consonant and er.

- *red — redder

(b) For words with double vowels or double consonants add er.

- *loud — louder
- *stiff — stiffer

(c) For words ending in -e add r.

- late — later

(d) For words ending in -y change the y to i and add er.

- pretty — prettier
- cloudy — cloudier

(e) For words with more than two syllables, use more before the word.

- attractive — more attractive

(f) For some words different words are used.

- bad — worse
- good — better

(g) For adverbs ending in ly we use more before the word.

- beautifully — more beautifully
- greedily — more greedily

Exception: early — earlier

(h) If a word has two syllables and ends in -ful, -less, -ing, ed or -ous, use more.

- hopeful — more hopeful
- fearless — more fearless
- boring — more boring
- crowded — more crowded
- famous — more famous

3. The superlative degree refers to more than two things. It describes the best or the most.

(a) The rules are the same as for the comparative degree except that the r and er are changed to st.

- Father's horse is the fastest of the three.

(b) More is replaced with most.

- He ate the most food.

(c) In the superlative degree we use the before the adjective.

- He is the best of all.

(d) Some words change completely in the superlative degree.

- little — less — least

(e) For adverbs ending in ly we use most before the word.

- beautifully — most beautifully
- greedily — most greedily

Exception: early — earliest

(f) If a word has two syllables and ends in -ful, -less, -ing, ed or -ous, use most.

- hopeful — most hopeful
- fearless — most fearless
- boring — most boring
- crowded — most crowded
- famous — most famous

27. LITERAL AND FIGURATIVE LANGUAGE

Literal language

When we use literal language we say exactly what we mean.

- Mia broke a cup.
- The black horse won the race.
- Mother likes to wear red.
- The wind is very strong today.
- I like cats and dogs.
- We saw an elephant in the reserve.

Figurative language

1. The figurative meaning is when a word means something different than what it appears to mean.

2. It makes text more interesting and is often used in idioms and poems.

3. Metaphors and similes are also types of figurative language.

- Her heart is broken because her cat died. (She feels very sad.)
- I am so hungry I could eat a horse. (I am very hungry.)
- She saw red when he threw a stone at her. (She was very angry.)
- He ran like the wind. (He ran very fast.)
- It is raining cats and dogs. (It is raining hard.)
- The woman is as big as an elephant. (The woman is very large.)

28. METAPHORS

1. Metaphors have a figurative meaning.
2. They describe something by comparing two things, which are essentially not alike, but that share a common characteristic.,
3. Metaphors do not use the words like or as.

- He saw red when the boy tripped him.
- Jane's brain is a computer.
- Everything goes wrong on a blue Monday.
- A blanket of snow covered the yard.
- Andrew was a pig at dinner.

32. PARTS OF SPEECH

Nouns

A noun is the name of something. (people, animals, places, things, feelings)

Countable nouns are things that we can count. (three cats)

Uncountable nouns are things that we cannot count. (sand, water)

Concrete nouns are things that you can taste, touch, hear or see. (pancakes, cat, chair, wind, house)

Nouns that are formed from verbs and end in -ng are called gerunds. (Running is good exercise.) See: Gerunds

1. Common nouns are the names of things, places or people.

- We live in a house and have two cats and a dog.
- The children like to play in the park.
- James is a doctor and Jimmy is a teacher.

2. Proper nouns are the specific names given to common nouns (places, persons, animals, buildings, etc.) They are always written with capital letters.

See: The capital letter

- My uncle lives in Salisbury.
- My sister's name is Marian and her cat's name is Tammy.
- The Empire State Building is in Manhattan.

3. Collective nouns are names for collections or groups of people, animals or things. See: Collective nouns

- A huge flock of birds flew over our house.
- I bought Mother a bouquet of flowers for her birthday.
- Mary wore a long string of pearls around her waist.

4. Abstract nouns name an idea, feeling, quality or concept and cannot be seen, touched, heard or smelled. (love, fear, happiness, anger, naughtiness, sadness, shock)

- I have a great idea.
- Simon and Fred had fun at the beach
- Kindness is a great asset.*

5. A compound noun is made up with two or more words. See: Compound words

- She needs a nice haircut.
- It was supposed to be sunshine, but now it's raining.

The possessive form of a noun shows that something is owned (possessed).

See: The apostrophe

(a) You add an 's for a singular noun.

- Sam's shirt is blue.

(b) You add just an ' for a plural noun that ends in s.

- The girls' dresses are red.

(c) When a plural noun does not end in an s, you add an 's.

- The women's dresses are black.

Adjectives

An adjective is a describing word. It tells us more about a noun or pronoun and makes the meaning more exact.

An adjective can be used before or after a noun.

- The pretty girl is crying.
- The crying girl is pretty.

An attributive adjective comes before the noun.

- The pretty girl is crying.

A predicative adjective comes after the noun and follows a verb.

- The crying girl is pretty.

We use a comma between two or more adjectives.

- The sad, pretty girl is crying

1. Descriptive (or quality) adjectives describe what kind. They are the most commonly used adjectives.

- The small child plays with the friendly dog.
- Lian wears a navy blazer to school.

2. Possessive adjectives show ownership and are used in front of the noun.

See: Possessive pronouns

- Anne always wears her blue dress to church.
- The cat eats its food.

3. Proper adjectives are proper nouns used as adjectives. They take capital letters.

- We love American movies.
- The July weather in London is usually pleasant.

4. Demonstrative adjectives point things out.

- Mother likes this picture.
- These children know their work.*

5. Adjectives of number or quantity specify how much or how many. They are used with all numbers accompanying a noun and all definite and indefinite amounts. (Examples: half, more, some, many, less, any, whole, little, enough, two, four, etc.)

- There is only one apple.

- Mother bought a two-seater couch.
- I love sun-dried peaches.

8. Interrogative adjectives help to ask a questions.

- Which ball is hers?
- Whose book is that?

9. Relative adjectives link adjectival clauses. There are only two relative adjectives, which and what.

- I don't know which pen is mine.

Note:

A relative adjective refers to a noun; a relative pronoun does not. (I don't know which is mine.)

Verbs

Verbs describe what is happening. (present, past and future) The time that the action takes place is called the tense. See: Tenses

1. A verb expresses an action or a state of being. Every sentence must have a verb.

- My mother works from home.

2. Verbs change their form, or sometimes the verb changes completely, to show when the action took place.

- She works hard. (present)
- She worked hard. (past)
- She will work hard. (future)

3. Verbs agree to subject numbers. Singular subjects need singular verbs; plural subjects need plural verbs. (Add an s to the verb if its subject is singular.)

- Tom works hard.
- The children work hard.
- John plays in the park.
- John and Peter play in the park

4. Verbs can consist of more than one word.

- I am doing my homework.

- The dogs were playing on the lawn.

5. Imperative verbs give instructions or commands.

- Clean the floor, John!*
- Use the broom!*
- Do your homework!*

Finite and infinite verbs

The finite verb

A finite verb (or main form of the verb) can stand on its own. It can be singular or plural and has a subject and a tense.

- Merle sings in church.
- Peter and Louis sing in church.
- Last week she sang in church.

The infinite verb

The infinitive form of the verb is formed by adding to to the basic form of the verb. Infinitive verbs cannot stand alone.

- I like to walk to school.
- Mary went to play with Ann.

Regular and irregular verbs

Regular verbs are changed into the past tense by adding -ed to the end of the verb. (work + ed = worked.)

- I played with her yesterday.
- Father worked late last night.

Irregular verbs change in a different way or not at all. (write - wrote, burst - burst)

- Last week I wrote him a letter.
- Mandy was very sad and burst into tears.

Auxiliary verbs

1. An auxiliary verb is a helping verb that comes before the main verb in a sentence. (Examples: am, is, are, was, were, has, have, had, do, did, will, shall, do, does, did, etc.)

See: Uses of the verb to be, Has, have and had, Do, does and did, Can and may

2. Auxiliary verbs can stand alone in a sentence.

- Jane is ill.

3. Auxiliary verbs help to form the tense of the sentence. The verb to be changes from the present tense to the past tense or future tense but the participle stays the same.

- I am doing my homework.
- I was doing my homework.

4. In the continuous tenses, the auxiliary verb "to be" is used with the present participle of the verb, which always ends in -ing (running, speaking, working).

- Merle is singing.
- Merle was singing.
- Merle will be singing.

Examples of auxiliary verbs which are always used with the present tense of the verb: shall, will, may, can, should, would, could, might, must.

- We shall go.
- He might join us.
- Mother should leave tomorrow.

Gerunds

Nouns that are formed from verbs and end in -ing are called gerunds.

- Running is good exercise.

When you can use the in front of a word ending in -ing, it is a gerund.

- The writing in his book is neat.
- The singing in church was beautiful.

If a noun or pronoun is used before a gerund, the possessive form (my, her, his, our, their, etc.) must be used.

- Their shouting is unpleasant.
- Tom's crying upsets Mother.

Participles

Participles help to form the tenses of verbs.

The present participle is formed when we combine an auxiliary verb (am, have, etc.) and a main verb (finite verb) to which we add -ing.

- I am working.
- She was playing.

The past participle is usually formed by adding -ed to the verb.

- I have worked outside.
- She has played with the cat.

Note:

When a participle ending in -ing acts as a noun, it is called a gerund. (Working is not nice.) See: Gerunds

39. THE TENSES

The tense of the verb shows if something is happening in the present, past or future.

1. The simple present tense

(a) Used for actions that happen in the present.

- The injured dog needs help now.
- I work in the garden.

(b) To express a fact or that it usually happens.

- We wash our faces every morning.
- John and Peter ride to school on their bicycles.

(c) To talk about scheduled events or intentions in the near future.

- They leave for Johannesburg this afternoon.
- The show starts early tomorrow night.

2. The present progressive (continuous) tense

This tense describes what is happening at that moment and that the action is continuing. Two words are used to form present progressive tense. Use am, is, are and a present participle to form this tense. (Examples of present participles: run - running, bark - barking, do - doing)

- Jack and David are running away.
- The dog is barking at the cat.
- What is she doing now?

3. The present perfect tense

(a) The present perfect tense tells us about something that started in the past and is still happening or true now. This tense can only be used with unspecific time expressions.

(Unspecific expressions: ever, never, many times, before, so far, already, yet, once, etc.) Use has or have and a past participle to form this tense.

(Examples of past participles: see — seen, fail — failed)

- I have seen him many times.
- Janet has never failed.
- They have been to London before.

Note:

With specific expressions (yesterday, last week, when I was a child, at that moment, that day, one day, Monday, etc.) we use the simple past tense.

- Last week I worked very hard.

(b) It refers to an action which has just been completed.

- I have just fed the dog.
- Father has arrived a while ago.

(c) When two actions take place and the one is completed before the other begins, the present perfect tense is used for the first action.

- Miriam will phone me as soon as she has arrived.
- The dogs drink water after they have eaten.

4. The simple past tense

Use the Simple Past Tense to express that an action started and finished in the past.

- Yesterday Fred worked in the garden.
- I wrote a test last week.

See: Regular and irregular verbs

5. The past progressive (continuous) tense

This tense is used when one action was continuing when another action started—both actions took place in the past. Use was or were and the present participle to form this tense. (Examples of present participles: play — playing, do — doing)

- Tim was playing rugby when Leo phoned.
- What was Ian doing when I called him?

6. The past perfect tense

Use the past perfect tense to express that something happened before something else happened in the past. This tense is formed by had and a past participle.

(Examples of past participles: take — taken, work — worked)

- Ian did not get well fast because he had not taken his medicine.
- When I got there he had left the house already.

7. The simple future tense

The simple future tense tells us that something will happen in the future or is expected to happen in the future. It is formed by shall or will and the infinitive (The verb in its basic form — go, play, write, etc.).

See: Infinitives

- Henry will go to town tomorrow.
- If I drink my medicine, I shall get well soon.

Note:

I shall and we shall – all the others will. If a threat or promise is made, or there is a tone of determination, this rule is reversed. If I and we are used in a question we always use shall.

See also: Uses of the word "to be"

- I shall go to school on Monday.
- I will go to school on Monday whether you like it or not.
- John will be late tomorrow.
- John shall help me now if he wants to go to the show.
- Shall we go to town?*

8. The future progressive (continuous) tense

The future continuous tense is used to show that an action will begin and continue in the future. It is formed by shall be and will be and the present participle.

- I shall be playing netball when you arrive.
- Uncle Tom will be taking me to music lessons next week.

- Jimmy will be sweeping the garage while Mary and June will be cleaning the kitchen.

9. The future perfect tense

The Future Perfect Tense is used to refer to actions that will be completed before another action in the future. It is formed by shall have and will have and the past participle.

- I shall have solved the problem by the time John wants his book back.
- When you arrive at noon, Josh will have cleaned the room.

40. CONCORD

(Verb and subject agreement)

Concord is the agreement of verbs and nouns in sentences. In all sentences, the verbs must agree with the subjects.

Rules for the matching of verbs and subjects:

1. A singular subject takes a singular verb.

- Rover is outside.

2. A plural subject takes a plural verb.

- My sisters are at the show.

3. Two singular subjects joined by and take a plural verb.

- Tammy and Lisa are friends.

4. A singular and a plural subject connected by and take a plural verb.

- Rick and his cousins are playing in the park.

5. The words anybody, anyone, each, each one, either, everybody, everyone, neither, nobody, no one, somebody and someone, take singular verbs.

- Anybody is welcome to come with me.
- Someone has to do the work.
- One of them is guilty.
- Neither of them has seen my dog.

6. Uncountable nouns such as water, news, means, economics, electronics, game (animals), measles and sand, take singular verbs.

- The water is clean.
- The game has lots of food.
- Good news makes me happy.
- The sand moves down the dune.

7. When a sentence does not start with the subject of the sentence, the verb agrees with the subject that follows the verb.

- On the table are pens.
- There is a tree in the camp.
- In the tree are many nests.
- At school are many good teachers.

Note:

In American English a collective noun is usually followed by a singular verb.
In British English a collective noun is usually followed by a plural verb.

41. THE PRINCIPAL PARTS OF VERBS

Regular verbs In the past tense these verbs usually end in -d or -ed. (bake — baked, play — played)

Irregular verbs change in a different way or not at all. (write — wrote, burst — burst)

Note:

In American English the past tense and past participle ending with -ed are preferred.

In British English both endings are usually acceptable, but the irregular form (learnt) is preferred.

- American English: learn — learned — learned
- British English: learn.— learned/learnt — learned/learnt

The preferred American English word is mentioned first in the list.

Direct speech repeats the exact words of the speaker.

- Mother said, "Do your work."

(a) Said, replied, screamed, asked, etc. are introductory verbs.

(b) The actual words spoken are placed in quotation marks.

(c) All punctuation marks go inside the quotation marks.

Note:

In British English periods and commas are placed outside the quotation marks.

- American English: Suzie said: "I want to go with you."
- British English: Suzie said: "I want to go with you".

(d) Start a new line each time someone new begins to speak.

(e) Always use a capital letter for the first word of a complete sentence of a direct quotation.

- Tim said: "I don't want to go to school today."

(f) A colon or comma separates the introductory verb from the spoken words. Put the colon or comma before opening the quotation marks. A colon is used for long dialogue and a comma for short dialogue.

- Henry asked: "Why are you not going to the dinner?"
- Mother replied, "I am too tired."

(g) If the spoken words come first, it can also be followed by a question mark or exclamation point (never a full stop).

- "What is your name?" he asked.
- "Where is my pen?" asked Mary.

- "It hurts!" Tom shouted.

Note:

The introductory verb after a sentence with a question mark or exclamation point is written with a small letter unless it starts with I or a proper noun.

- "Help!" Mary cried.
- "Can you help me?" asked David.

(h) When the introductory verb is in the middle of two sentences, a full stop is used after the introductory verb.

- "I am sorry," said Penny. "It was my mistake."

(i) When the introductory verb is in die middle of a single sentence, a comma is used after the introductory verb and a capital letter is not used for the second part of the sentence.

- "I never knew," Lea said, "that she was so clever."

(j) If the last punctuation is not part of the actual quotation, but applies to the whole sentence, the punctuation mark goes outside the final quotation mark.

- Did you really enjoy "The Girl on the Train"?

(k) We use single quotation marks (' ') when quotation marks are needed in a quotation.

- Mother said: "Be careful what you say 'Mr. sensitive' is coming to visit today."

2. Indirect speech

Indirect speech reports what another person has said and does not use the exact words.

- Mother said that we must do our work.

(a) Always use the word that after the introductory word.

- Father said that he is working very hard.
- Len says that he does not eat a lot.
- Graham replied that he did not know the answer.

(b) When the introductory verb is in the present tense (says), repeat the words also in the present tense.

- "I am going to town today," Mother says.
- Mother says that she is going to town today.

(c) When the introductory verb is in the past tense (said), all the words are changed into the past tense.

- "I am going to town today," Mother said.
- Mother said that she was going to town that day.

(d) With exclamations we describe the emotion in the indirect speech.

- "Hurrah!" shouted Cindy, "I have won."
- Cindy shouted happily that she had won.

(e) Pronouns need to change to keep the meaning of the sentence accurate.

- She said, "I like school." (direct speech)
- She said that she liked school. (indirect speech)
- Dick answered: "We will be back before dark." (direct speech)
- Dick answered that they would be back before dark. (indirect speech)

Rules for the changing of pronouns in indirect speech

See: First person, second person and third person

1. First person pronouns change to third person.

- She said: "I don't want to go to the party." (direct speech)
- She said that she did not want to go to the party. (indirect speech)

2. There is no change in the pronoun when the person reports his own words.

- I told him: "I don't want to go with you." (direct speech)
- I told him that I did not want to go with him. (indirect speech)

3. Second person pronouns change according to the person that reports the speech.

- She told him: "I think you are very kind." (direct speech)
- She told him that she thought he was very kind. (indirect speech)
- He replied: "I like the green dress." (direct speech)

- He replied that he liked the green dress. (indirect speech)

4. Third person pronouns do not change in the indirect speech

- Mary said: "I do not like him." (direct speech)
- Mary said that she did not like him.

Some words that can be used to describe emotion in the indirect speech:

happily, joyfully, angrily, thankfully, with an exclamation of disgust, exclaimed with joy, sorrow, regret, surprise, laughingly, applauded, delightfully

Examples of words we need to change from direct speech to indirect speech

Direct speech	Indirect speech

13. THE EURO (€)

- On 1 January 2002 the euro banknotes and coins were introduced in 12 member states of the European Union.
- It is the largest monetary changeover the world has ever seen.
- The participating states were: Austria, Belgium, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Ireland, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Portugal and Spain.
- The coins have one side common to all the countries and a reverse side which differ in every country.
- The banknotes are similar throughout the euro area .
- Today the euro is one of the world's most powerful currencies.
- Not all of the member countries (27) of the EU use the euro as their currency.
- Some countries that are not members of the EU use the euro as their currency.
- The collective noun for countries that use the euro (18) is the Eurozone.

17. THE NATIONAL ANTHEM OF THE UNITED STATES

(The Star-Spangled Banner)

The last three verses are generally omitted in performances.

O say can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hail'd at the twilight's last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars through the perilous fight
O'er the ramparts we watch'd were so gallantly streaming?
And the rocket's red glare, the bomb bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there,
O say does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

On the shore dimly seen through the mists of the deep
Where the foe's haughty host in dread silence reposes,
What is that which the breeze, o'er the towering steep,
As it fitfully blows, half conceals, half discloses?
Now it catches the gleam of the morning's first beam,
In full glory reflected now shines in the stream,
'Tis the star-spangled banner - O long may it wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave!

And where is that band who so vauntingly swore,
That the havoc of war and the battle's confusion
A home and a Country should leave us no more?
Their blood has wash'd out their foul footsteps' pollution.
No refuge could save the hireling and slave
From the terror of flight or the gloom of the grave,
And the star-spangled banner in triumph doth wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

O thus be it ever when freemen shall stand
Between their lov'd home and the war's desolation!
Blest with vict'ry and peace may the heav'n rescued land
Praise the power that hath made and preserv'd us a nation!
Then conquer we must, when our cause it is just,
And this be our motto - "In God is our trust,"
And the star-spangled banner in triumph shall wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

• Words by Francis Scott Key.

• Music by John Stafford Smith 1814.

• It became America's national anthem in 1931.

18. THE NATIONAL ANTHEM OF ENGLAND AND THE UK (God Save the Queen)

The standard version.

God save our gracious Queen,
Long live our noble Queen,
God save the Queen:
Send her victorious,
Happy and glorious,
Long to reign over us:
God save the Queen.

O Lord, our God, arise,
Scatter her enemies,
And make them fall.
Confound their politics,
Frustrate their knavish tricks,
On thee our hopes we fix,
God save us all.

Thy choicest gifts in store,
On her be pleased to pour;
Long may she reign:
May she defend our laws,
And ever give us cause
To sing with heart and voice
God save the Queen.

- There is no certainty about the author or composer of this song.
- There are many versions of the lyrics.
- God Save the King was a patriotic song first publicly performed in London in 1745.
- When the monarch of the time is a male, "Queen" is replaced with "King" and the feminine pronouns are replaced with masculine pronouns.

- This anthem, (especially the melody) was also used in many Commonwealth countries and is still used in some.
- Some British people feel England should have its own national anthem.

19. GEOGRAPHICAL FACTS

The information in this section varies in different sources.

2. Atlantic — 76,762,000 km² (33,420,000 mi²)
3. Indian — 68,556,000 km² (24,469,500 mi²)
4. Southern — 20,327,000 km² (7,848,300 mi²)
5. Artic — 14,056,000 km² (5,427,000 mi²)

The highest mountains of the world

Mount Everest

Mountain/location — Height (Measured from sea level)

1. Mount Everest (Nepal/China) — 8,850 m (29,035 ft)
2. K2 (Kashmir/China) — 8 610 m (2,8248 ft)
3. Kanchenjunga (Nepal/Sikkem) — 8,598 m (28 ft)
4. Lhotse (Nepal/Tibet) — 8,511 m (28 ft)
5. Makalu (Nepal) — 8,481 m (27 ft 10 in.*)

* We use a period after the abbreviation of "inches", so that it's not confused with the word "in".

Note:

Mauna Kea (U.S.) is the world's highest mountain as measured from base to summit.

The summit is in Hawaii but the base begins more than 70 km (43.5 mi) offshore.

The total height estimate is about 10,210 meter/metre (Brit.) (33,500 feet).

Principal rivers of the world

River/location — Length

1. Nile (Africa) — 6,695 km (2,585 mi)
2. Amazon (South America) — 6,440 km (2,486 mi)
3. Yangtze (China) — 6,300 km (2,432 mi)
4. Mississippi (North America) — 6,020 km (2,324 mi)
5. Yenisey-Angara (Asia) — 5,536 km (2,137 mi)

Principal deserts of the world

Desert — Location — Area

1. Sahara — North Africa — 8,600,000 km² (3,320,479² mi)
2. Arabian — SW Asia — 2,330,000 km² (899,618² mi)
3. Gobi — Mongolia/NE China — 1,040,000 km² (401,546² mi)
4. Patagonian — Argentina — 673,000 km² (259,847² mi)
5. Great Victoria — SW Australia — 647,000 km² (249,808² mi)

Principal islands of the world

Island — Area — Ocean

1. Greenland — 2,166,086 km² (836,330 mi²) — Artic
2. New Guinea — 785,753 km² (303,381 mi²) — Pacific
3. Borneo — 751,929 km² (290,320 mi²) — Indian
4. Madagascar — 587,713 km² (226,917 mi²) — Indian
5. Baffin Island — 507,451 km² (195,928 mi²) — Artic

The highest waterfalls of the world

Waterfall — Country — Height

1. Angel — Venezuela — 979 m (3,212 ft)
2. Tugela — South Africa — 947 m (3,110 ft)
3. Utigard — Norway — 800 m (2,625 ft)
4. Mongefossen — Norway — 774 m (2,540 ft)
5. Gocta Cataracts — Peru — 771 m (2,532 ft)

The largest countries (By land mass)

Country — Area

1. Russia — 17,075,400 km² (6,592,846 mi²)
2. Canada — 9,330,970 km² (3,602,707 mi²)
3. China — 9,326,410 km² (3,600,947 mi²)
4. USA — 9,166,600 km² (3,539,242 mi²)
5. Brazil — 8,456,510 km² (3,265,075 mi²)

The smallest countries (By land mass)

Country — Area

1. Vatican City — 0.44 km² (0.17 mi²)
2. Monaco — 1.95 km² (0.75 mi²)
3. Nauru — 21.2 km² (8.2² miles)
4. Tuvalu — 26 km² Tuvalu (10 mi²)
5. San Marino — 61 km² (24 mi²)

The largest cities (By population)

City — Estimated population, 2017

1. Tokyo — 38,241,000
2. Delhi — 27,197,000
3. Shanghai — 25,202,000
4. Beijing — 22,063,000
5. Mumbai — 21,690,000

The estimated world population in 2017 is 7.5 billion. (United Nations estimate)

20. THE PLANETS

- The planets are much nearer to earth than any of the stars.
- They have no light of their own, but reflect sunlight.
- The planets move around the sun.
- For many years Pluto was regarded as the eighth planet, but in 2006 it was reclassified as a dwarf planet.

The first recognized five dwarf planets from the biggest to the smallest are:

1. Pluto
2. Eris
3. Makemake
4. Haumea
5. Ceres

From the closest to the sun to the furthest away from the sun

Planet — Average distance from the sun

1. Mercury — 57,909,100 km (22,358,828.50925 mi)
2. Venus — 108,208,600 km (41,779,574.032856 mi)
3. Earth — 149,598,000 km (57,760,110.713633 mi)
4. Mars — 227,939,200 km (88,007,817.136438 mi)
5. Jupiter — 778,298,400 km (300,502,692.23013 mi)
6. Saturn — 1,429,394,000 km (551,892,108.80762 mi)
7. Uranus — 2,875,039,000 km (1,110,058,763.7937 mi)
8. Neptune — 4,504,450,000 km (1,739,177,868.0465 mi)

From the largest to the smallest

Planet — Diameter/diametre (Brit.)

1. Jupiter — 139,822 km (86,881 mi)
2. Saturn — 120,500 km (74,900 mi)
3. Uranus — 51,120 km (31,763 mi)
4. Neptune — 49,530 km (30,775 mi)
5. Earth — 12,760 km (7,926 mi)
6. Venus — 12,104 km (7,521 miles)
7. Mars — 6,787 km (4,217 mi)
8. Mercury — 4,878 km (3,031 mi)

21. THE SEVEN WONDERS OF THE ANCIENT WORLD

Originally compiled by Antipater of Sidon, a Greek poet in the 100s BC.

1. Pyramids of Egypt

The oldest and only surviving wonder. Built in the 2000s BC as Royal tombs. About 80 are still standing. The largest is the Great Pyramid of Cheops at El Gizeh. It is 147 m (482 ft) high. (Egypt)

2. Hanging gardens of Babylon

Terraced gardens adjoining Nebuchadnezzar's palace. Supposedly built by the king to please his wife (600 BC). No trace has ever been found. (Iraq)

3. Statue of Zeus at Olympia, Athens

This 12 m (39 ft) statue was carved by Phidias and marked the site of the original Olympic Games in the 400s BC. It was constructed of ivory and gold, and showed Zeus (Jupiter) on his throne. Destroyed by fire. (Greece)

4. Temple of Artemis (Diana) at Ephesus

Constructed of Parian marble and more than 122 m (400 ft) long and 18 m (59 ft) high. It was begun about 350 BC and took some 120 years to build. It was destroyed by the Goths in AD 262. (Turkey)

5. Tomb of King Mausolus of Caria

Erected by Queen Artemisia in memory of her husband who died in 353 BC. It stood 43 m (141 ft) high. Fragments are to be found in the British Museum. (Turkey)

6. Colossus of Rhodes

A gigantic bronze statue of the sun god Helios (or Apollo). It was 36 m (118 ft) high and was built by the sculptor Chares. It was completed in 280 BC and was destroyed by an earthquake in 244 BC. (Rhodes, Aegean Sea)

7. Pharos of Alexandria

This marble lighthouse and watchtower stood on the island of Pharos in the harbor/harbour (Brit.) at Alexandria. It stood 122 m (400 ft) high and was destroyed by an earthquake in 1375. (Alexandria, Egypt)
